

Georges*, “a mulatto novel”, through the prism of the abolitionist press

Publication type: Journal article

Journal: Cahiers Alexandre Dumas

Author: Beliaeva Solomon (Maria)

Abstract: This article considers Georges, Dumas' only novel addressing the contested status of people of color under the colonial system, in the context of contemporaneous emancipatory discourse, particularly in the French abolitionist press. In so doing, it interrogates the novel's political stakes and its engagement with anti-slavery writing and thought.
