Abstract: The contribution presents three editions by Claude Nourry (1470-1533) unknown to bibliographers. These editions – La Vie de Jhesucrist, La Destruction de Hierusalem, Robert le Diable – are gathered in a contemporary Sammelband held in Sion (CH). The article deals with the composition of the book and examines the typographical material. A philological analysis of Robert le Diable allows us to speculate on the participation of Pierre de Vingle, associate of Nourry's, in this edition.
