

Les relations entre les acteurs italiens et les acteurs français, 1658-1689

Revue : European Drama and Performance Studies

2022 - 1, n° 18. Molière and After. Aspects of the Theatrical Enterprise in 17th- and 18th-Century France

Array

Array

Résumé : The commedia dell'arte troupe that operated in Paris in the second half of the 17th century shared theatres with Molière's troupe and the Guénégaud company before transferring to the Hôtel de Bourgogne on the creation of the Comédie-Française. Previously harmonious relations deteriorated rapidly when the Italians began to perform in French. This article examines the issues at play in the context of a theatrical environment where troupes were forced to compete in order to survive.

Nombre de pages : 413

ISBN : 978-2-406-12918-9

ISSN : 2045-8541

DOI : 10.48611/isbn.978-2-406-12918-9.p.0025

Éditeur : Classiques Garnier

Array

Mots-clés : Commedia dell'arte, Molière, Hôtel Guénégaud, Comédie-Française, Comédie-Italienne, spectacle, stage machinery, parody, language, competition

Afficher en ligne