

Voltaire's writing, a survivor of history

Publication type: Journal article

Journal: Revue d'Histoire littéraire de la France

Author: Pink (Gillian)

Abstract: Some of the handwritten traces of Voltaire and other famous writers have disappeared while an astonishing quantity has been preserved by various means (purchase, bound text, paper folding, transcription. . .). The feeling of veneration underlying these preservation efforts can be situated in the context of a growing fetishization of secular objects in the nineteenth century, which has become more scientific nowadays.
