

Reforming farm accounting to tackle the food challenge of the Anthropocene

Journal: Systèmes alimentaires / Food Systems
2021, n° 6. varia

Array

Array

Abstract: The observation of our food systems shows great weaknesses and the probability of a future regression is high. These weaknesses have their origins in the shift towards a new geological era, which greatly destabilizes agriculture: the Anthropocene. This article shows why adopting environmental accounting can improve the accountability and resilience of farms to meet the food challenge of the Anthropocene.

Number of pages: 346

ISBN: 978-2-406-12705-5

ISSN: 2555-0411

DOI: 10.48611/isbn.978-2-406-12705-5.p.0045

Publisher: Classiques Garnier

Array

Keyword: Anthropocene, food system, farm, resilience, accountability, environmental accounting.

Display online