La correspondance entre Charles de Villers et Christophe-Gabriel Collignon

Publication type: Article from a collective work

Collective work: Un homme, deux cultures. Charles de Villers entre France et Allemagne \(1765-1815\)

Author: Hoch (Philippe)

Abstract: Descending from a long line of printers and booksellers in Metz, Christophe-Gabriel Collignon was Villers's main publisher. From 1798 to 1814, the writer and the publisher kept up a voluminous correspondence. The study of those letters highlights the writer's speculative or artistic interests, his personality and, finally, the genesis of his works. Collignon's letters reflect the life of a firm that looks toward Germany, in a period of extensive technical and economic changes.
